Italy and Ethiopia Now Direct New Charges On The Eve of Peace Talks

Nine Italian Planes Fly Over Addis Ababa, Throwing the Populace Into Panic as Selassie Leads Troops In North.

ITALIANS PUSH ON

Fascist Forces Are Pushing Down Along Lake Tana, Sphere of British Influence.

Geneva, April 13 (AP)—Italy and Ethiopia directed new charges of violation of the international conventions of war against one another today on the eve of peace conversations.

The Italian government declared in a telegram to the League of Nations that it was observing and would observe the laws of war, but that it must punish "every inhuman atrocity committed by its adversary in contempt of every principle of law and morality."

An Ethiopian government message said the armies of Emperor Haile Selassie also conformed to international agreements regulating the conduct of warfare, despite alleged violations by the Fascist armies.

The Addis Ababa government conceded that individuals, in isolated cases, might have "reacted" against the Italian methods, but said steps had been taken in such cases to impose punishment.

Emperor Haile Selassie himself sent a direct message, protesting against the slowness with which the League conciliation committee of 13 was settling peace negotiations in progress.

The exchange of recriminations came while Salvador de Madariaga of Spain, chairman of the conciliation committee, was preparing to open tomorrow peace talks between Baron Pompeo Aloisi, Premier Mussolini's Geneva spokesman, and Ethiopian representatives.

Planes Over Addis Ababa

Addis Ababa, April 13 (AP)—Nine Italian planes flew over Ethiopia's capital today, throwing the populace into panic, just as a government spokesman said Emperor Haile Selassie was leading a movement of 300,000 fresh warriors to the northern front.

The Fascist aerial squadron appeared over the north, completed its flight over the city and turned back to the northern front.

The fliers apparently were bent only on a scouting mission, dropping no bombs. On their last previous appearance nine days ago the Italian pilots attacked the Addis Ababa airfield and refrained then from bombarding the capital itself.

The government spokesman said Emperor Haile Selassie was carrying on energetically his personal direction of the war with Italy.

The reserve manpower was dispatched to defensive positions from Lake Tana, sphere of British influence in the northwest, to Lake Asseki, in the central sector 100 miles north of Dessye, centering about Waddi, scene of an earlier Ethiopian defeat.

Government officials attributed the earlier retreat of the Ethiopian armies in the north to an absolute lack of defense against alleged poison gas attacks and aerial bombardments.

Ethiopian reports said a squadron of Italian planes bombed Warra Balin, 40 miles southwest of Dessye, yesterday, sending crowds of Sunday worshippers rushing from the churches. Three persons were reported to have been killed.

The dispatch of reserves indicated a change in the emperor's military tactics.

Previously, he had guarded against great concentrations, particularly in the difficult terrain of the extreme north.

Now, government officials said, the Fascist armies were handicapped by heavy extension of their lines, while the "little rains" were becoming more heavy each day.

Italian Troops Advancing

Rome, April 13 (AP)—Italy's troops in northern Ethiopia are pushing down along Lake Tana, sphere of British influence and headquarters of the Blue Nile. Marshal Pietro Badoglio reported today.

The commander-in-chief of the Fascist forces in East Africa announced in a communiqué:

"The victorious advance of our troops continues in various sectors of the northern front.

"Our columns which left Gondar (26 miles north of Lake Tana, in the northwest sector) occupied yesterday, April 12, the Pentameria of Gersera, on Lake Tana, and hosted the wretched there.

"Our troops were festively welcomed by the population.

"Tana has been linked to Gondar by a motor road, opened simultaneously with the march of our troops.

"Another column, composed of truck squadrons, camel corps and fast armored cars, occupied the Ethiopian customs post facing Gallabat, west of Gondar.

"Groups of armed enemies fled before our advance.

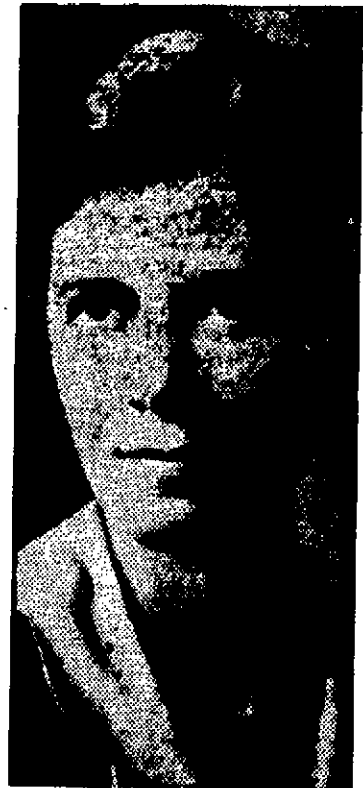

"On the southern front, a small body of Asoma Lancers, on a scouting expedition, reached near Adara, superior enemy forces and consequently engaged the enemy in a fierce encounter, forcing them to retire.

"Our losses were 43 Italian National dead and wounded. The enemy losses were considerable."

Benedictine Ball at Auditorium Tonight

Everything is in readiness for the Benedictine Ball tonight in the Municipal Auditorium, when at seven o'clock the doors will swing open to accommodate those who wish to arrive early and enjoy the musical selections of John Erbe's and Paul Zucca's orchestras.

The program will be formally opened at 8:30 o'clock promptly, by Bernard A. Culliton, judge of the city court, who will welcome the guests in the name of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the hospital, while Mayor Conrad J. Heiseleman will give the official welcome. Then follows the entertainment, featuring bands of screen, radio and stage, the best that can be obtained from the metropolitan area, introduced by Alfred Ska. The Ska booking house, New York city, a delightful musical will then be given by the Rev. Leo Rowlands, O. S. B. C., English Capuchin, which promises to be of rare note, as he is both an internationally known musician, and a singer, and will lead a lofty air to the program of the evening. Father Leo will be clothed in the habit of his order, and his numbers are expected to be a real delight to the music lovers attending the ball.

As is the usual custom, a reception room will be arranged near the stage, where the guests will be received by Mrs. James R. Higley, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, the officers and the past presidents of the Auxiliary: Mrs. John N. Cords, Mrs. Thomas J. Hickey, Mrs. James Jenkins, Mrs. Frank Eastman, Mrs. Clarence L. Gannon, Mrs. Joan Dwyer Goldrick, Mrs. Edward J. Kelly and Mrs. Edward B. Loughran.

With beautiful decorations, a splendid and elaborate entertainment, "best ever" music for dancing, and delicious refreshments, the ball is expected to go down in charity ball annals as the most successful social and financial affair ever sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Benedictine Hospital.

STATE POLICE HIGHWAY PATROLS BACK ON JOBS

On April 15 the State Police highway patrols will go back on the job after being laid off for the winter months. Increase in traffic makes it necessary to send out the motorcycle men again for the season. Trooper Paul General, who has been stationed at Port Jervis to patrol N.Y. for several seasons past, will return to that route.

Japanese-Soviet Clash

Heikinku, Manchoukuo, April 13 (AP)—Japanese general headquarters announced tonight that a Japanese patrol of 20 men fought with 50 Soviet soldiers Saturday on a sand bar in the Tarkui river, two kilometers south of Hulin. The clash was the latest in a series of incidents between Russians and Japanese on the frontiers of Manchoukuo. According to the official communiqué, the Japanese were fired on by the Russians when they reached the sand bar and a Manchoukuo force nearby joined in the fight which lasted half an hour. The communiqué mentioned neither casualties nor the outcome of the fight.

Easter Brings Holy Festivals, Riots and Bombings On Sunday

Millions of Faithful the World Over Participate in Traditional Ceremonies as Holy Festival is Disrupted by Riots and Bombs.

VATICAN QUIET

Quietest Easter in Years Observed at Vatican as Pope's Health Prevents His Celebrating Mass.

(By The Associated Press)

Impressive religious rites and resplendent fashion parades marked Christendom's observation of Easter. Millions of the faithful participated in traditional ceremonies. But the peace of the holy festival was disrupted by riotous scenes in Dublin and the bombing of an Ethiopian settlement.

Priests and pilgrims of many faiths joined in a colorful procession to the holy sepulchre at Jerusalem. The Vatican observed its quietest Easter in many years. Thousands of Romans repaired to St. Peter's, but the state of Pope Pius's health prevented him from celebrating Mass there. Sanctions kept tourists from Italy.

Roosevelts at Church

President and Mrs. Roosevelt went to St. Thomas Episcopal Church at Washington. The first lady wore a sky-blue Easter suit and dark blue hat set off with a purple pom pom and red flowers. Intermittent drizzles dampened New York's annual fashion parade along Fifth avenue but bright sunshine favored promenaders along Chicago's Michigan Boulevard.

Overflow crowds, estimated at 60,000, attended services in the 28 churches at Moscow, capital of the Soviet nation, where religious instruction for youth is banned by the government.

Faithful in Mexico

At Mexico City—site of recent religious disputes—approximately 200,000 Catholics assisted at Masses with complete liberty.

A parade of the Irish Republican army in Dublin, in memory of those who died in the 1916 rebellion, precipitated clashes. Scores were injured.

Italian planes bombed Warra Balin in war-torn Ethiopia. Worshippers rushed from churches. Three were reported killed.

A section of the boardwalk at Asbury Park, N. J., collapsed under the weight of Easter strollers. Eight persons were injured.

Down in Gainesville, Ga., the faithful knelt in storm-battered churches to offer thanks that they had been spared in the tornado that resulted in the death of more than 200 of their neighbors earlier in the week.

SAY RITTER RECOMMENDED HIS PARTNER FOR BENCH

Washington, April 13 (AP)—Pulling a surprise on the defense, the House prosecution introduced evidence in the Senate impeachment trial today that Federal Judge Halsted L. Ritter of Florida, the defendant, recommended his former law partner in 1929 for the federal bench.

In his recommendation Ritter noted that Rankin was a supporter of Herbert Hoover.

Frank P. Walsh, defense counsel, objected strenuously to the evidence before Vice President Garner, presiding, allowed it to go in with the declaration the Senate was familiar enough with the case to judge its relevancy.

Walsh said it was "pretty political" and immaterial. He said Judge Ritter had denied politics had entered into any of his actions or appointments.

Landon's Manager Busy
New York, April 13 (AP)—John D. Hamilton, manager of Governor Alf Landon's campaign for the Republican presidential nomination, arranged today a number of conferences with eastern party leaders. He will meet with a group of Kansas tomorrow at a luncheon at the National Republican Club, at which the advisability of opening an eastern regional headquarters will be discussed.

Defers Decision
Washington, April 13 (AP)—The Supreme Court deferred today for two weeks its decision on constitutionality of the Guffey Coal Act.

BORAH AND KNOX

Senator and Publisher Meet in First Real Struggle Seeking Delegates in Illinois Primary.

Washington, April 13 (AP)—Plunging into the campaign wars after his rest at sea, President Roosevelt made final preparations today for his speech at a Democratic rally in Baltimore tonight.

New Deal supporters looked to the chief executive to give further indication of the line the administration will follow in the big drive toward the November election.

From this address, which will be made before the state's young Democratic clubs at the Fifth Regiment Armory after an old-time torchlight procession, the party leaders are expected to take their cues for the campaign struggles.

Lawrence Fenneman, president of the Maryland Young Democratic Organization, estimated that 25,000 persons will hear the speech at the armory, in addition to those listening in on the broadcast over a nationwide hookup at 10:30 p. m. (E. S. T.)

The President planned to go to Baltimore at the close of the White House work day. Before the parade there will be a reception and a dinner given by Senator Radcliffe (D-Md.) Vice President Garner, several cabinet members and senators will be guests.

The talk is the first of a series of pre-convention speeches. Topping political interest tomorrow are the primaries of Illinois and Nebraska.

Both Claim Victory

Colonel Frank Knox, Chicago publisher, and Senator Borah, of Idaho, contest in Illinois in the first out-and-out struggle between candidates for the Republican presidential nomination. Supporters of both claim victory.

In the Democratic primary in Illinois, President Roosevelt is unopposed. He carried the state by a large majority in 1932. Political observers were watching the results with a view to comparison of the Democratic vote with the Knox-Borah total. Leadership in both parties worked to get out a record vote.

In Nebraska, Borah's name is alone on the Republican primary ballots. A poll of candidates for delegates showed, however, that the Idahoan is not at present assured of the state's delegation. Eight candidates for delegate expressed preference for Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas, some favored Henry Ford as a "second to Landon" choice, two hesitated between Landon and Borah and 22 kept their preferences to themselves.

President Roosevelt is unopposed in the Nebraska Democratic primary. A write-in movement for Senator George W. Norris gave eleven hour zest to the election.

Plans For Norris

At McCook, home of Senator Norris, Rex A. Bagley said the plan to advanced Saturday to have both Democrats and Republicans write in the name of Norris for reelection evoked enthusiasm in all parts of the state. Norris, insurgent Republican and New Deal advocate, declined to file in either party primary.

Other developments in the political scene included an announcement by Father Charles E. Coughlin, radio priest, that his National Union for Social Justice will hold its national convention in Cleveland, August 13-16.

The priest yesterday declared "the incumbent in Congress whose record has been in harmony with the principles of social justice must be considered eligible if he is willing to do all in his power to restore to Congress the sole right and power of issuing the money in the United States."

N. Y. STATE NURSES WILL MEET IN MIDDLETOWN

Horton Memorial Hospital in Middletown at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Nurses holding application blanks of membership will mail them to Mrs. Elizabeth Bergman at Middletown State Hospital. All nurses are invited to attend the meeting.

Drive For Curtailment Of Liquor Licenses

Albany, N. Y., April 13 (AP)—New York state is preparing to begin a drive for curtailment of the number of "on-premise" liquor licenses, the Liquor Authority announced today.

Captain John B. Judson, chief executive officer of the board, said licenses would be withdrawn from all places found not to be bona fide restaurants.

This, Captain Judson said, revealed that the number of liquor licenses in the less populated towns and counties is out of all proportion to the number in the thickly populated centers.

New York city has the lowest proportion of licenses as compared with population, Captain Judson reported. Port Jervis, with one license for every 223 residents, and Hudson, with one in 228, are highest.

New York city has one licensed establishment for 635 inhabitants. Kingston's proportion is listed as one for 272.

Dr. Condon Requested To Appear Wednesday Before The Grand Jury

Trenton, N. J., April 13 (AP)—Dr. John F. (Jafie) Condon, who testified he gave Bruno Richard Hauptmann $50,000 to ransom the Lindbergh baby, has been requested to appear Wednesday before a grand jury investigating charges that Paul H. Wendel of Trenton killed the child.

Alyne M. Freeman, foreman of the Mercer county grand jury, sent the following telegram to the Bronx educator's home last night:

"We request your appearance before the Mercer county grand jury Wednesday, April 15, in connection with the Wendel case. Your expenses will be paid."

Wendel, a disbarred lawyer wanted on embezzlement charges, was dramatically lodged in a Trenton jail three nights before Hauptmann was to die and formally charged with the murder for which Hauptmann was later executed. He said he was abducted by four men in Brooklyn, N. Y., two months ago and tortured into "confessing" the Lindbergh kidnapping.

William F. McGuinness, assistant district attorney of Brooklyn, said one of the men sought for questioning in connection with Wendel's abduction was Murray Bleefeld, alias Moe Taylor, whose father's home was in the neighborhood in which Wendel said he was held captive.

The grand jury here has subpoenaed a score of witnesses and "requested" others to come from outside the state, including Mahlon B. Foster of Wilmington, Del.

Freeman said Foster would appear before the grand jury tomorrow and make comparisons of Wendel's handwriting with that on the ransom note found in the Lindbergh baby's nursery.

In Wilmington, Foster told questioners that he met Wendel several years ago as "Dr. Paul H. Wendel". Wendel was a druggist before he began the practice of law.

Foster said "Dr. Wendel" had given him several prescriptions and that after Wendel's arrest he (Foster) looked up the prescriptions, compared the handwriting with the ransom notes, and contacted Governor Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey.

The Wilmington man, who is not known in that city as a handwriting expert, said he had held several conferences with Governor Hoffman in Trenton, the last on the day before Hauptmann was executed.

It was understood Governor Hoffman, who often pointed to what he called "discrepancies" in Dr. Condon's testimony and writings, was a few minutes earlier. When he did "interview" before the grand jury tomorrow and Wednesday, should the Bronx educator appear at the same time the governor would have an opportunity for which he expressed desire before Hauptmann's death to interview "Jafie" face-to-face.

"Jafie" Silent

New York, April 13 (AP)—Dr. John F. Condon had no comment to make on the Mercer county (N. J.) grand jury's request that he appear before it Wednesday.

The grand jury is investigating the case of Paul Wendel, disbarred Trenton attorney who reputedly an alleged confession in the Lindbergh kidnapping.

There was no indication whether Dr. Condon would reply to the telegram from the foreman of the grand jury or, if he did, what might be the nature of his reply.

An effort by Governor Harold Hoffman to question Dr. Condon came to naught when the executive refused to comply with Jafie's suggestion that he submit his questions in writing and that the grand jury view be held at Condon's home.

Was Removed From Command of The Eighth Corps Area After He Had Criticized WPA Money as "Stage Money."

THREE-MONTH LEAVE

Decision Will Be Made as to His Future Duties Following a Leave of Absence.

Washington, April 13 (AP)—Major General Johnson Hagood was ordered restored to active duty today in command of the Sixth Corps area at Chicago.

Hagood was removed from command of the Eighth Corps area after he had criticized WPA money as "stage money." The disciplined officer conferred twice with President Roosevelt.

At Chicago he will replace Major General Frank R. McCoy. The assignment is effective May 2.

McCoy will be transferred to command the Second Corps area at New York, succeeding Major General Dennis E. Nolan, who is retiring.

The decision to restore Hagood to active duty was made personally by President Roosevelt after a second conference with Hagood at the White House Saturday afternoon.

In army quarters it was understood that Hagood, who is the third highest ranking general officer in the army, urged President Roosevelt to send him to the Second Corps area, which is considered the most desirable command post in the United States.

But it was reported that this was opposed both by high administration officials and by General Malin Craig, chief of staff.

At Chicago, Hagood will have command of the second army, embracing troops within both the Fifth and Sixth corps areas. Important army maneuvers are to be held in that region late this summer.

Hagood has approximately 14 months to serve before reaching the statutory retirement age of 64.

On his own application, however, he can retire at any time now with full retirement pay under the law permitting such a step after 40 years of active service.

War department sources said that less than a month ago he submitted his formal application for retirement, but requested later that action be suspended pending an interview with President Roosevelt. He placed his case before the chief executive while the latter was en route to Florida for his recently ended fishing trip.

After that interview, it was announced that Hagood would take a three-month leave of absence, during which time a decision would be made as to his future duties.

The announcement that a new assignment had been given him was made in War Department special order number 88, which read as follows:

"By direction of the President, Major General Johnson Hagood, U. S. A., now awaiting orders at his home, Charleston, S. C., is assigned to the command of the Sixth Corps Area to take effect May 2, 1936, and will proceed, at the proper time, to Chicago, Ill., and assume the command to which assigned.

"The travel directed is necessary in the military service."

Nolan retires April 30. On the following day, McCoy will take over his command at Governor's Island, N. Y., and on the next day Hagood will assume command at Chicago.

Body Found in Creek

Hudson, N. Y., April 13 (AP)—The body of Robert Decker, a 14-year-old schoolboy, was found in a creek today at the point where one of his friends said a large truck-and-trailer hit a quardrail last night. Apparently the boy was struck while he walked in the highway near his home at Hollowville, John Kasner, the friend said he heard a crash when the truck hit the rail, at 10:15 p. m. looking out his window he saw the truck resume its trip. He said, Young Decker had started to walk home from a relative's house a few minutes earlier. When he did "interview" before the grand jury tomorrow and Wednesday, should the Bronx educator appear at the same time the governor would have an opportunity for which he expressed desire before Hauptmann's death to interview "Jafie" face-to-face.

Reports on Naval Limitations

Washington, April 13 (AP)—Norman Davis, chairman of the American delegation to the London naval conference, made his personal report today to President Roosevelt on the new naval limitations treaty.

After talking briefly with the President, Davis said he was uncertain whether the treaty would be submitted to the Senate for ratification immediately.

This, he said, probably depended on the length of the session.

LETTERS FOR PEDI STRIANS

Just pedestrians never seem to realize the danger they run at poor-ly lighted street crossings and on dark highways when they wear dark clothing. They see the ap- proaching car clearly, and its light seems to be shining on them so brightly that they do not understand how obvious the sign to the driver. Thick clothing, absorbs the light. White clothing or some conspicuous patch of white helps greatly. An electric flash lamp helps still more, and rural pedestrians are learning to carry such a warning signal. But too often they make the mistake of pointing it in the eyes of the ap- proaching driver instead of directing it down upon the road or backward at themselves. Such a mistake may be fatal.

A good idea reported lately is the use of small light-reflectors like the larger ones often placed at road curves or angles. Illumination from approaching headlights shining on buttons or bosses of this sort worn somewhere on the pedestrian's body, is flashed back and gives the driver adequate warning. Such devices may serve the purpose very well. They might be made cheaply in various convenient forms. They might even be distributed with pedestrians' licenses—were probably coming to that.

NEWARK'S 100 YEARS

Centenary and tercentenary cele- brations are announced everywhere. States and cities established by pio- neers are growing up and citizens are taking pride in the history of their founding and development. Newark, N. J. was a recent cele- brator observing the 100th year of its incorporation. The original set- tlement of Newark goes back nearly 300 years. Today Newark is a great industrial city and an important neighbor to the country's metropolis. Visitors to New York in recent years who have entered through the Newark airport or driving on the great highways are amazed by the speed, ease and efficiency with which traffic is sorted and sent to its vari- ous destinations. It was not always so. At the office of the New Jersey Historical Society reveals some of the physical difficulties which har- assed residents when Newark was young. "Between ourselves and this great neighbor," he writes, "lay three rivers a precipitous ridge, and miles of tidal marshes and could gulp down a laboriously built road over night."

It is a good thing to observe these historical occasions. Modern Amer- ica needs to be reminded that dif- ficulties and hardships and obstacles of many sorts had to be met and overcome in the "good old times" even as now.

SOCIAL CREDIT PLAN

Political pension movements seem to be running into trouble. The Townsend Plan is obviously in a jam at present. Its nearest relative, the Social Credit Plan in Alberta, Can- ada, even with its author in the gov- ernor's chair and a majority in the provincial legislature grows less and less confident. There are no signs of the $25-a-month pension it prom- ised for everybody. In fact, the Alberta government is in a bad way financially unable to meet payment on $72,000,000 of maturing bonds. This is a great disgrace in Canada. It is said to be the first case of the kind in Canadian history.

Naturally an government that promises to do the impossible finds its credit soon lost. The Alberta parliament, however, deserves re- spect for not giving that impossible pension. Once here, our legislatures are seldom deterred by the mere fact that there's no money in the treasury.

"SLAVES OF EVENTS"

Sir Arthur Salter, British econo- mist, tells Americans and his fellow- countrymen that the pooling of their collective wisdom is the only way to prevent the doom of western civiliza- tion. Isolation, which has been the apparent goal of the super-national- ists, is simply out of the question. It is impossible for a nation to live wholly within itself. "I don't be- lieve we can reckon on an oasis of prosperity in an impoverished world," he explains, "or an oasis of peace in a world of war. I believe the only way a nation can insure its safety is not to be the slave of events, but to be their master."

Right now the western world seems to be rushing to disaster with collective folly. Its peoples have been enslaved by fears, prejudices, armaments, industrial speed and so on. Emerson said, "Society consists in not being subordinated by your means. Civilized countries today seem to have been subordinated by their means and a sort of international sanity prevails. Man, thoughtful persons recognize the conditions and understand them; there is therefore reason to hope that, before too late, they will set together to save civilization."

TALKS TO PARENTS

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

Mrs. Smith frequently insisted that grandmothers were an un- principled group, and that they spoiled the children and were sub- versive of discipline. They have no sense of responsibility, no honor, when it comes to their dealings with their grandchildren," she declared. To many a mother still burdened with the responsibility and care of little children this often seems very true. They are exasperated at the careless attitude of the older wo- men, who take the children so quiet- ly and enjoy them without worry. Of course, grandmothers are meddling and interfering always, criticiz- ing their daughters and daughters- in-law, and often find the children a nuisance and badly brought up. Still others resent being grandmothers at all, and as far as possible avoid the tell-tale third generation. But the average grandmother who indulges the children here and there with forbidden sweets or occasional lullaby or slips a little pin money into a child's pocket, or takes the young- sters to a show on a school day, is one of the most precious memories a child can have. Look back upon the mother, if she is wise, will never notice that her rules have been broken. The children will never expect from her what they get from grandma, so long as she is unaware, or at least seems unaware of the secret liaison.

Meanwhile the mother is giving joy to two generations—the passing and the coming, and so linking the past with the future. No child can be utterly provincial and narrow- minded if he has known more than what is in his immediate span of time.

In protecting flower and vegetable seeds from decay organisms in the soil by the simple process of dusting them with red copper oxide before sowing, gardeners will be saved dis- asters in the spring which occur in- evitably in the spring when seeds are sown in the soil. ## Golden Rain

by Margaret C. Whidmer
 "NORTHERN Iris Lanning has been taken into her Aunt Phina's rather spry set in New York. She enjoys the change from general poverty to a small Pennsylvania town where she enjoys the triumph of being Allan Bradley's dearest friend. Iris Lanning is the entirely eligible young woman in the picture. She is a little perturbed, a little bit of a snob, but she is a night before landing finally on the slightly frosty porch of her far up the Hudson."

Chapter 33 LECTURE.

THE brother and sister dined alone that night. Phina was in bed after the excitement of lease signing. "Oh, I love New York! It's a magic city!" Iris said. She crossed the room and leaned out the win- dows. The tall buildings, the sky lines with all those starred gray heights against it, and the dull rose glow in the sky behind."

"I know," said Owen gently, "I hope it will never look like just Park Avenue to you."

"Oh, you talk like Uncle Will. You ought to be back in our hermit- age, I believe you'd like that," Iris said, half teasing half annoyed. "We were cast wrong. You don't really like the pleasures and pal- aces, you would have been happier than I with Uncle Will and Father and Aunt Ella. Maybe you'd have been a real artist."

"Well, I had Mother till I was twelve, you know. She was the sweetest thing—gave and impulsive and affectionate, not a bit like Phina."

"I wonder what she'd have thought about this exciting world of yours. 'Yours, my child,' said Owen, a little cynically. 'You happen to be the family passport to smart society. Oh, any unmarried man not too ill- mannered can spend his night in all the best stables, but, you see, I was selfish enough (or Phina con- sidered it selfish) to prefer Sigrid. You like the roadhouses and the dinner-parties and the victories over such as Georgia.'"

"I do like good places and seeing things. So would you if you had been brought up without money and under a system of obedience and seclusion which dated from Aunt Ella's girlhood."

"So far, so good. But I wouldn't stay so late at the Chateau next time Georgia can get away with that sort of thing better than you can. And, little sister, watch your step—Georgia is a clever girl."

He was not looking at her as he spoke. "Oh, Owen," she poured out her explanation. "I thought Georgia had done it. I'll find Phina and Camilla thought I did."

"Georgia's line was, of course, that you had," said her brother. She thought he looked relieved. "She ought to know. It was her own habit last winter. There's nothing Georgia doesn't do, understand. But you have to be her kind to do it."

"Was it very serious?" He patted her. "Nothing's serious these days."

"But, oh, how gorgeous!"

BUT Iris reflected that Mrs. Morgan understood, or Phina wouldn't be leasing the Woodlands. Mrs. Morgan was her kind of person. And when she was driving down in Allan's completely repaired lowslung gleaming dark-blue car with Allan as easy and amused and casual as ever by her side. Life was all exciting.

"We'll take the grounds first," he said, as they finally drove through a pair of wrought-iron gates. "Little girls from mid Victoria always prefer the simple pleasures of a garden, don't they?"

"If you keep on teasing me about being from mid Victoria I'll be driven to a terrible effort to be modern. And I'll do it badly. And then you won't like me any more," she said, laughing.

"Then I'll certainly stop, for you do this superlatively well. And here's the first garden. Beautiful!"

He stopped the car and they got out, moving through a tall barrier of forty-two bushes. They turned down through a bridgehead it wound through parklike green for perhaps a quarter of a mile, went through a delicate small woodland, and ended at another wrought-iron gate, single and low.

Allan opened it for her and stood back as she passed between the high hedges. She stood, slim and tall and starry-eyed with the excite- ment of what she saw about her, her coat blown back by the spring wind, her face flushed and rapt.

Flowering trees stood about, as in an orchard close. Bud crocuses and snowdrops thrust up along the borders of the paths; masses of crocuses would be covered with red and pink flowers later. There was taken an important step, to- morrow.

BRITISH EXPLORE FOR ORE AT WORLD'S HIGHEST LAKE

Cambridge, England (AP)—Lake Titicaca in South America, in which legend says, was dumped $250,000,000 of Inca treasure to save it from Spanish invaders, is to be the objective of a British scientific expedi- tion next year.

Search for mineral deposits and not treasure hunting, will be the purpose, however, of the British sci- entists.

They also will seek ways and means of bringing a measure of prosperity to what is considered one of the poorest areas in the world.

Lake Titicaca, said to be the high- est lake in the world and one of the largest, lies partly in Peru and partly in Northern Bolivia, probably was formed by a shift in the formawere beds of tulips and hyacinths. Bright wreath and a dozen other lovely old fashioned and new show- ing blossoming bushes crowded the grass.

Scarcely knowing what she did, she threw out both hands and caught Allan's with them, drawing him closer to her. He had made all this time possible. He had given her a chance to have the freedom of his hidden, exquisite garden, his bed and dreaming and his life.

"Allan, how shall I thank you? You've brought me to life in the place I dreamed of all my life!" Iris said, innocently as a child, and she pulled his head down and kissed him.

He did not release her at once. She had forgotten that he would kiss her, too. When he did, he said, "I'll kiss you every day."

"Good heavens, what sort of a girl are you? A witch, or a devil, or an ingenue, or an old world lady, or all of them together?"

"All of them together," Iris said, laughing a little frightened at what she had done, but still so enrapt- ured over the garden that she could think of little else. "Aren't you used to impulsive gratitude?"

"Not that kind, but I like it."

"Allan, what really did happen here? I'd rather hear the story from you."

ALLAN looked a little annoyed as if he'd rather not think of it.

"Yes, I suppose you've heard all sorts of tales. It was simple enough. Uncle Frank was a bit of a bouncer along with his dynamism. It goes with the type, I suppose. And his business methods got old fashioned. They'd been all right for ten years ago, but they were a little slippery for these times."

"So an annoyed and mentally un- sound depositor, who felt Uncle Frank had ruined him in the nine- teen twenty-nine crisis, shot him one fine day, about a year and a half ago. My aunt, fortunately, had had some years before. My cousin had just become engaged to Georgia. He was a quixotic sort of fellow. He insisted on giving back everything his father had obtained dishonestly, according to a lot of fool professional exposters. You can imagine how that irritated Georgia. She broke with him, and he disap- peared. He was found drowned a few weeks later. It's about a year now. Left everything to 'Granny.'"

"Oh, how could Georgia?"

"I don't think so, exactly. As she said Jim's name was clouded. That and no money together were a lot to ask her to stand."

"I don't think so at all!" Iris said hotly. "Even if she hadn't loved him, she owed him loyalty and honesty. I think she was hard and greedy, and ill bred."

"Well, you two never did like each other," said Allan gayly. "You should have been Jim's girl, not Georgia. But, as he's dead, you'll have to put up with me."

He caught her unguessed slim hand and swung it. "Now let's stop being sad and go visit the stables. Frank had this place constructed on the plan of an Elizabethan manor house, stables and all. The house rambles off into a few Spanish spots and Louis Fifteenth bedrooms, but in the main it's all for good Queen Bess Showplace, really."

"The grounds are big enough for a township. But they're wonderful. I never saw anything like them," Iris said with her usual frankness.

"They finally returned, through the very impressive front doors. They could have driven in with a motor bus. Honora was directing a man- servant to lay a picnic lunch on an Elizabethan refectory table. A fire roared in a fireplace, where a coat of arms, all red and gold and lions and unicorns, stood out from the paneled wall above the mantelshelf. Two Titians, a Madonna and a De- scent, flanked the enormous fire- place. Iris gasped, then laughed in- repressibly.

"If you don't mind my criticizing your uncle and my aunt, it's a cross between a hotel and a movie palace, only all real," she said.

"Showplace," Allan said coolly, but he laughed too.

And then Phina was entering from another door, marshaling a bored Owen, filling the place with the whirlwind of her driving inten- tions—upkeep, renewal, neces- sities for setting the estate going again. Phina treated Allan with what was for her docility. When he finally rose to leave, she went with him to continue discussions of ways and means.

Temporary repairs were made to many of the chuk-holes in the north boulevard pavement Friday. The boulevard as well as the lower end of Route 28 is in a pretty rough con- dition. Most of the holes can be dodged with a little skillful driving, but there are one or two spots where they are too thick and plentiful to be avoided. However, our folks go to town just the same; some of the residents of the twin villages may be seen on Wall street every day.

WORK OF CCC IMPROVES PARKS IN EASTERN STATES

New York (AP)—State parks of New York and New Jersey will re- open this spring with improved recreational facilities developed through the winter by the CCC un- der the national park service.

In nearly 19 parts in the two- states planning and construction have been advanced five to ten years under the federal program.

Improvements include new pic- nicking areas, camping grounds, overnight cabins, bridges and other colorful recreational facilities. Sev- eral historical and scenic regions also are more accessible as the re- sult of the winter's labor.

Bargain hunting in seeds is a pos- sible time that the seed buyer will have no part in, nor will he deal with seedsmen who offer seeds wholly on a price basis, for hard experience has taught him that there is no such thing as a "bargain" in seeds.

Nearing the End of the Trail

April 11.—Donald and Lynd of New York City have been spending a few days with their mother at the family home on the cross mountain road.

P. J. DeSanto, of the World-Tele- gram advertising department, was numbered among the recent business callers in the hub of the reservoir country.

Edward Kellerhouse is seriously ill at this writing. He is suffering from an infected leg which failed to heal, following amputation of his foot last winter.

Creary Bostock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Bostock of Bryn Athyn, Pa., came to Shokan Monday to spend the week at the family sum- mer home on the mountain road. Young Bostock was accompanied by the following friends: Reginald W. Brown, Arnold Smith, Leonard Gyleshaal and Gideon Gensert.

Elmer Bedell will dispose of his farming equipment and wood-sawing machinery at a public sale on April 18.

A number of Shokan residents at- tended the funeral services for Mrs. Cornelia Brooks at Ashokan Thurs- day afternoon, as conducted by the Rev. Mr. Cole of Kingston. The bearers were sons of the deceased woman—Willie, Fred and Lewis Brooks.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barringer drove to Endicott and called on rela- tives at that place during the week. Elling Gray, who with his family moved into Mrs. May Giles's house last week, has resumed his old du- ties with the local railroad section crew.

There is about the right amount of water in the brooks for good trout fishing. A spell of warm weather will complete the favorable condi- tions for this sport.

Potted flowering plants were dis- tributed to a total of eight shut- residents of the community by the Reformed Church Easter committee.

Sunday, April 12, 1926, funeral services for a child of Mr. and Mrs. Willet L. Bishop were held in the Shokan Reformed Church, the Rev. W. R. Betts officiating. Mr. Bishop was a hotel keeper at Olive Bridge which at that time was a village of about 100 inhabitants.

It is reported that Mr. and Mrs. George Whittle of the Temple's Pond sector of Hurley will occupy the residence property at Ashokan which they purchased of Archie Van Benschoten of Mt. Marston Town. Whittles for many years have oper- ated a large farm on the side of Tonche Mountain. They are the par- ents of Mrs. Bert Jones of Kingston.

Mrs. Robert B. Peck of New York city is at her summer home on the heights for a few days.

Local farmers and others are tak- ing up their sap buckets. The late- run this month was fairly good but the syrup is the warm spell in March has had a buddy flavor which makes it unsuitable for selling, though tolerably good for home con- sumption. DeWane county pro- ducers, here during the week with new syrup, reported a very poor season up that way. The prices as well as the demand for maple prod- ucts should be better next season, despite the heavy influx of Canadian sugar and syrup.

Mrs. Eltinge Gray is ill with a prolonged case of sinus trouble. Funeral services for Mrs. Hattie Hamilton, held in the Ashokan M. E. Church Wednesday afternoon, were attended by a number of Shokan residents. Mrs. Hamilton, who died after an illness of several months, at one time made her home in Shokan.

Local farmers have received let- ters from the county agricultural agent, apprising them of the meet- ing, on Tuesday, April 14, at the court house for a discussion of the new soil conservation act and crop improvement practices.

Lewis Theil, state road poultry- man, has received his first shipment of baby chicks. Mr. Theil is raising Brown Leghorns this year.

Local motor sales agents' prem- ises are crowded with used cars tak- ing in trade, and with shiny new machines. Business appears to be good in this line.

Homer Markle, Jr., of Twin Trees underwent a minor operation in Kingston Friday.

The grass in pastures and meadows is showing up green and has attained an exceptionally early growth. Farmers probably will turn their stock out a week or two previous to the conventional May 10 date.

Temporary repairs were made to many of the chuk-holes in the north boulevard pavement Friday. The boulevard as well as the lower end of Route 28 is in a pretty rough con- dition. Most of the holes can be dodged with a little skillful driving, but there are one or two spots where they are too thick and plentiful to be avoided. ## A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER
 WASHINGTON—Although Demo- cratic control of the senate is a mathematical certainty regardless of what happens to either the presidency or the house in the November elections, party leaders have no intention of ignoring senatorial contests in the coming cam- paign.

Senator Guffey of Pennsylvania, charged with the responsibility of seeing that Democratic senators up for reelection this year are not only returned but that new ones are added, has perfected his organization for a determined drive. He expects to get under way im- mediately after the party's big show is over in Philadelphia in June. He has his eye on several Republican seats he would like to see filled by Democrats.

Merely increasing the numerical strength of the Democrats in the senate doesn't interest Guffey. The party already has more votes than it needs.

STOP BAD BREATH

Thousands of people afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels, stimulating them to natural action, and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous cathartics do without any of the bad after effects.

Olive Tablets bring on gripping pain or any disagreeable effects.
Dr. F. W. Edwards discovered the remedy after 20 years of practice among the people afflicted with constipation with the attendant bad breath.
Olive Tablets are gentle, a sugar-coated compound, and will keep them for their other ailments. Take one or two at bedtime for a week and note the effect. 10c, 25c, 50c, $1.00.

FOUND MRS. TITTERTON'S BODY

BELL MAY HAVE CAUSED SLAYING

The shrill ring of her doorbell, detectives suggested, may have caused the murder of Mrs. Nancy Titterton in her Beckman Place apartment in New York City. Wiley Straughton (upper left) delivery boy, told investigators he rang the bell the same time at which her death has been put. Detectives said it was possible the ringing of the bell caused the intruder to kill the young wife. Mrs. Titterton is shown (upper right) in a photo she sent to a magazine for which she wrote. ## Highland to Hold By-Pass Hearing

A public hearing will be held in the Cameo theater in Highland next Friday afternoon, April 17, at 2:30 o'clock on the state highway department's plan to by-pass Highland to the east by carrying route 9-W through White street with an approximate four mile cut-off.

The state department, according to reports confirmed by Supervisor John F. Wadlin of the town of Lloyd, scheduled the hearing at the request of Vanderlyn T. Pine, chairman of the Board of Supervisors of Ulster county. Mr. Wadlin was instrumental in having Mr. Pine act after a storm of protest arose here against the move to by-pass the village.

State Highway Commissioner Brandt approved the request and will attend the hearing if possible. James S. Bixby, divisional superintendent, and several other State Highway Department officials will attend.

All citizens of Highland and Lloyd township will have an opportunity to be heard at the hearing, Mr. Wadlin said.

It was through the co-operation of leaders in Highland that the Cameo theater was obtained for the hearing. Mr. Wadlin said that the Board of Supervisors was not prepared to proceed to acquire rights of way for the route proposed by the State Highway Department until the Highland people had an opportunity to be heard.

A number of business leaders in the community have been making inquiries advancing a possible alternative route through the village. One of two of them have freely stated that they believed the county would be put to much less expense by adopting the alternative route. It is said the rights of way under the state department plan may cost the county approximately $100,000, whereas it was said a route through the village might be obtained at half that cost to the county.

Easter Welcomed With Cloudy Skies and Rain

Kingston residents awoke Easter morning to find the skies dark and overcast and holding a threat of rain, but it was not until about 5 o'clock that rain actually began falling here. The disagreeable weather, however, did not keep the people at home and all of the church services in the city were largely attended.

All of the churches held special Easter services with special music and sermon by the pastors of the churches.

The majority of the churches were decorated with the white Easter lilies as well as other flowers.

The overcast skies during the afternoon kept many of the younger folks from promenading up and down Broadway in their new Easter finery as has been the custom for years.

Auto traffic through the city was also quite heavy, and those who owned cars were out driving and calling on friends and relatives in the city and in the vicinity of Kingston.

Ellenville Residents Injured in Crash

Samuel Lipka, well known proprietor of the book and stationery store at 165 Canal street, Ellenville, was seriously injured this noon and his wife and William Schacht of the Warren Hall Grocery, Ellenville, who were riding with him, sustained severe injuries when the car in which they were riding turned over several times and was demolished this noon.

The accident happened at Phillipsport, a few miles south of Ellenville, on the Ellenville-Wurtsboro road. Details regarding the accident could not be obtained at the time of going to press, except that it was foggy along the road at the scene of the accident.

The injured people were taken to the Veterans' Memorial Hospital, Ellenville, where Mr. Lipka's injuries were reported to be serious. He sustained a possible fracture of the skull, a broken left arm, injuries to the shoulder and lacerations about the face.

Mrs. Lipka is suffering from several broken ribs and numerous contusions, but her condition is not considered serious.

Schacht, who was thrown clear of the car when it went over, has an extensive scalp wound and is bruised about the body.

Nurses' Card Party
The Nurses' Alumni Association of the Kingston Hospital will hold a card party in the Nurses' Home next Monday evening, April 20. To Face Court Martial
Copyright, 1934, by Associated Press. Tokyo, April 13 (AP).—Six high officials of the provincial government of Manchukuo were arrested, a Domei (Japanese) news agency dispatch said today, charged with plotting subversive movements and furnishing military information to Soviet Russia. The dispatch said Liang Sheng, governor of North Manchuria, and five other officials—all Manchukuo—were seized at Harbin, and brought to Helsinki, capital of the Japanese-sponsored State of Manchukuo, to face a court martial.

New York, April 13 (AP).—Irregular price movements gave the stock market a rather cloudy appearance in today's dealings.

Around noon improvement was shown by Calumet & Hecla, Cerro de Pasco, Mother Lode, Bendix, Curtis Publishing, White Motors and Chrysler.

On the other hand, Auburn dropped 3, and losses of fractions to a point or more were suffered by General Motors, Bethlehem Steel, Poor & Co., General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Western Union and American Telephone. The rails, led by Santa Fe, held their own.

Charge Vanoy With Violation ABC Law

Negro Proprietor of CCC Club on Hasbrouck Avenue Arrested Early Sunday Morning on Warrant, but
No Liquors Found in Club Rooms —Granted Adjournment.

Saturday evening shortly after 8 o'clock George Perry and Fred Walker of Fallsburgh stopped in the CCC club at 13 Hasbrouck avenue, which is conducted by Jack Vanoy, a negro. The two men claimed they bought a pint of alleged whiskey in the club, paying 50 cents for it. They made sworn affidavits to that effect which were made a part of a warrant that was issued charging Van-oy with a violation of the ABC law in selling liquors without first having a permit from the ABC Board.

Early Sunday morning the warrant was served by Police Sergeant James V. Simpson, who placed Vanoy under arrest. At the time the warrant was served the sergeant also searched the club room and made a written notation on the papers that he had searched the club and had found no liquors in the building.

Vanoy furnished $500 bail for his appearance in police court this morning at which time he was represented by Attorney Chris J. Flanagan, while Assistant District Attorney N.
LeVan Haver appeared for the police department. Mr. Flanagan made several motions to dismiss the charge which were denied by Judge Cull-iton. Mr. Flanagan then entered a not guilty plea for his client and the hearing was adjourned to April 23.
